Demos seek allies in transcript rebuff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats on the House impeachment inquiry pressed for a bipartisan stand Wednesday night against President Nixon's response to a committee subpoena for tapes.

Several Republicans said it seemed a reasonable approach but made no advance commitments. Rep. Harold D. Donohue, D-Mass., said he would urge the House Judiciary Committee at a rare night session to approve a simple letter finding the President's edited Watergate transcripts do not comply with the subpoena. The transcripts were supplied Tuesday, the subpoena's deadline.

Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., said he would move to cite the President for contempt, but that action appeared to have scant support.

Democrats rallied behind Donohue's letter as a move that would head off a party-line split on the committee and turn the inquiry into a political battle.

But even Republicans agreeing with that approach made no advance commitments on voting for it.

Tom Railsback, R-Ill., said: "Whatever we do, I want to be sure we're very conciliatory." Railsback earlier called Nixon's response inadequate.

House Republican leaders and committee members set out a policy stand Tuesday that the President's public release of 1,308 pages of White House tapes was what to do about Watergate puts him "substantially in compliance with the subpoena."

But Democrats led by Judiciary Committee chairman

Peter W. Rodino Jr. of New Jersey said the issue was clear: the committee subpoenaed tapes, not transcripts, and didn't get them.

"The subpoena speaks for itself," Rodino said. "The subpoena was for tapes."

Nixon's chief Watergate lawyer, James D. St. Clair, said he will move to quash the subpoena from special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski to turn over 64 tapes by Thursday.

In related developments: —Convicted Watergate burglar James W. McCord Jr., said at a Senate committee hearing that Nixon "sat on information" that perjured testimony had been given in McCord's trial.

—Sources said the Senate Watergate committee's report on Watergate may be delayed because of the White House transcripts released this week.

—At the White House, Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the "overall reaction" to Nixon's disclosures "has been very good... it has been generally very well received throughout the country." He turned aside specific questions related to the transcribed conversations, saying that the material should be judged "on its totality and not on any phrase or passage."

Students line up to pay fees for spring term during streamlined registration process.

Add, drop procedure will go through May 8

Students began turning in add and drop cards and may continue to turn through May 8, according to school officials.

Registration is currently underway and will continue through May 8. A late fee will be charged after that date for dropping classes. Students in classes until May 29.

Where students may stand in line and drop cards are set up in the Student Building on the main campus should have the add and drop card completely with the name of each instructor involved in the card.

Registration is expected to be completed by May 8. Enrollment which totalled 7,300 students on the number of last year's enrollment of 8,300, according to Kay Harward, assistant registrar.

Ninety-three per cent of the students who registered in advance received their ideal schedule short of one class, he said. Seventy-one per cent of those students got their ideal schedule and the remaining 22.6 per cent were short of their ideal schedule by one class.

Many students were able to complete their registration within 15 to 20 minutes. Students who received scholarships and loans were found to have taken the longest time during the registration process because of long lines at the financial aid tables.

The advance registration process, which was developed by a committee of student admissions and computer services representatives during the summer of 1972 has two main functions, Harward pointed out. The computerized process makes the registration more convenient for students and enables faculty members to have a better idea of enrollment in classes, he said.

Harward noted that the advance registration forms are designed personally and those students who turned in forms before the students and those students who turned in forms before the March 15 deadline had a much better chance of receiving their classes.

The design of the registration procedure is pretty well finalized but there are still a few problems that we are trying to work out," Harward said.

Registration in the fall should look similar to Monday's registration. "The goal of advance registration is to serve the student," he said, noting that the students can best help by planning their schedules accurately so fewer add and drop procedures need to be taken.

Y appeals U.S. Court judgement

BYU has appealed a judgement of the U.S. District Court for Utah awarding a terminated graduate student $88,283 in damages.

Attorneys for the University have filed a docketing statement pursuing their appeal before the Tenth Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver.

The plaintiff, Hayes Slaughter of Salina, Kan., had claimed that he entered into a contract with BYU to seek a doctoral degree and that the University expelled him arbitrarily. Mr. Slaughter was terminated from a graduate chemistry program in March 1972 after publishing two scientific papers in which he listed his supervising professor as a co-author.

BYU contended that Mr. Slaughter was guilty of academic dishonesty because he used the professor's name without permission.

The District Court judgment in favor of Mr. Slaughter was handed down after a jury trial before Chief Judge Willis W. Ritter.

The BYU appeal cites the reasonableness of its academic standards and the right of a private university of promulgate its own rules in such matters. It also claims numerous errors in the trial judge's rulings on points of law and evidence.

Y committee appointed to evaluate constitution

A committee to study the present ASBYU constitution has been appointed by Reid Robison, student body president.

According to Robison, Bill Skokos and Cecilia Rosales have been given the task of making a "more workable" constitution and presenting their recommendations to the Executive Council.

"Some parts of the present constitution are cumbersome," said the recently-elected president. "But some of it is great. I know we can make it work."

Skokos, committee chairman, will contact other universities during the summer to compare different governmental organizations and look for ideas which could be implemented here.

The relationship between the Organizations and Student Council Services offices will also be investigated, says Robison, with the possibility of combining the two if their functions overlap.

Duplication of effort in all offices and direct communication between students and vice presidents will be under consideration, he said.

Brad Wilson, executive assistant to Robison, will conduct student polls to determine what students want, Robison added.

The committee's findings will be compiled and ideas presented at the end of fall semester from which the ASBYU Executive Council will decide what course of action to take.

"We're going to involve the Executive Council step-by-step," said Robison. "The vice presidents won't be as country if they are asked to help make suggestions."

"We may find that we don't need to make any changes," he concluded. "For that constitutional amendments will be enough. We'll just wait and see."

Church leader to speak at Y

Elder Loren C. Dunn of the First Council of Seventy of the Church of Jesus Christ of Later-day Saints will speak at Tuesday's devotional assembly at 10 a.m. in the Marriott Center.

Elder Dunn was called to the Council in 1968, and has been involved in the missionary services of the Church.

Born in Tooele, Utah on June 12, 1930, Elder Dunn graduated from BYU in 1953 with a degree in journalism. He married Sharon Longden in the Salt Lake Temple in 1959 and they are the parents of four children.

Working in journalism, Elder Dunn served as editor of the Tooele Transcript and later received his masters degree in public relations. He is also involved in governmental organizations, having chaired the committee named by Utah's governor to establish an Industrial Development Information System in Utah.

Elder Dunn served a mission to Australia in 1954-56 and has served for five years in the New England Mission Presidency.

Members of Traffic Judges, the ASBYU Student Body and the attorney and an appropriation for the Culture and Recreation Committee. The approved Wednesday Executive Council in its special meeting since new members were elected.

Other items discussed were policies on

ing of ASBYU events,

candidates for the Exemplary Manhood Award, relationships between the vice president of freshman involvement and other council members and establishment of a budget for the summer.

Approved as Traffic Court judges were Dean Clark as chief judge, David Libhart, Herb Clash, Hyrum Brent Coles, S. Darrin Watson and Vern Smith. David Barrett was approved as attorney general and Bob Henrie as ombudsman.

Also approved during the meeting was a $100-per-month stipend for the ombudsman plus tuition and books each term. He was also approved as a non-voting member of the Executive Council.

Bad Clegg of the Social office presented a proposal to the council to approve $320 for the purchase of seven pieces of oriental art. The art would be placed in one of the reception rooms on the third floor of the Wilkinson Center, according to Clegg.

Also approved for the Social Office was $520 for Social Vice President Leonard Lee, advisor Curt Wynder and Social Office Concert Chairman Ron Howard to travel to Los Angeles to visit with concert booking agents and to attend some performances in order to screen them for BYU performances.

Changing the ASBYU "Focus Page" in the Daily Universe was discussed by Executive Assistant Brian Johnson. He submitted a proposal to eliminate all student government advertising except that in the focus page, and at the same time, expanding the focus page advertising.

He explained this would not include money-making endeavors that some offices would sponsor such as the Social Office concerts.

Some of the objections to this proposal were that some events needed publicity outside of focus page advertising and that there may be competition between offices for advertising. A vote was not taken on the proposal but Johnson was instructed by Robison to meet with the vice presidents during the week to get their views on the proposal.

Another item discussed was the establishment of a budget for the spring and summer terms. Robison proposed that each vice president meet with Finance Vice President Frank Wirtz and him to approve expenditures under $100. Some vice presidents objected to the proposal, but wished to have a budget to work with during the summer. No vote was taken but the vice presidents were asked to submit a budget proposal to Robison by Monday.

ASBYU President Reid Robison also discussed an open house to be held in the student government offices Friday. He told the vice presidents the open house was scheduled from 1 p.m. until 3 p.m., and asked them to have each of their offices open to the students who attend the open house.

Provo City is "ready to go" on a bike path which will connect downtown Provo with the BYU campus, according to Frank Turner, city traffic engineer.

The bike route will start at the campus at about 300 East on 800 North. It will go west on the north side of the street and will then go down 100 West to the downtown area. First West will become a one-way street under the plan.

"There was no opposition to the bike path proposal at a public hearing held on April 23," reported Turner.

He explained that the city has contacted businesses which will be affected and they "think the bike path will be great." However, P.E. Ashton's Chevrolet and Buick Agency and Sears Roebuck have not yet been contacted, said Turner.

If either of them voice a valid reason for having 100 West remain a two-way street, a proposal will be made to remove the parking on one side of the street, in order to leave space for the bike path.

The bike path would satisfy a requirement placed on the city by the Environmental

A native of Salt Lake City, Elder Young has been a member of the First Council of the Seventy since 1945 and was ordained a high priest in 1961.

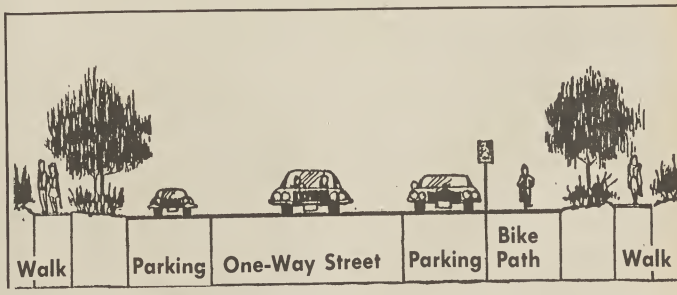

The student body and general public are invited to attend the fireside, which is being planned by the BYU Sixth Stake.

Plans 'go' for bike path

A proposal to create a bike path from BYU to downtown Provo has been approved. The plan will use 800 North and 100 West. 100 West will be turned into a one-way street which will allow parking to be retained on both sides of the street. Cars parked on the east side of the street will be moved out from the curb far enough to provide a bike strip between the parked cars and the curb.

Protection Agency to stimulate cycle traffic to the downtown area, he explained. The deadline given the city by the EPA was May 1.

According to Turner, an asphalt overlay must be made on 100 West to make it smooth enough for a bike path. The traffic department can then paint the lanes and put up the necessary signs, which have already been ordered.

The city will have to wait from a month-and-a-half before it can begin construction on the overlay, according to City Engineer Jack Arbes, because the weather has to be warmer to insure a smooth surface. Though the EPA's deadline will not be met, they will be aware that the bike path proposal is approved and the city is under construction, said Turner.

Police arrest 7 'zebra' case

FRANCISCO (AP) —

Joseph Alioto said police have arrested blacks in the Zebra killings carried out by a group "dedicated to the murder and mutilation of black and dissident blacks."

A vicious ring of police have pierced the Zebra killings. Alioto told a news conference. The Death Angel pattern of operations — that is, unprovoked attacks involving random shooting of whites in the street or mutilation by heavy-handed police committed by neatly dressed young black men."

Authorities in other California cities have said they knew of no connections between slayings in their areas and the Zebra killings. Alioto said the Death Angels are fanatical believers in black separatism and train young boys 14 and older in martial arts.

"Decapitation and other forms of mayhem bring special credit from the organization for the killers. Hitchhikers are a particular prey," Alioto said. Heavily armed police arrested the seven men today in a series of raids.

Steps to success outlined

By PAUL ROBERTS
Universe Staff Writer

Steps toward success were outlined by Coach John Wooden, head basketball coach at UCLA, in Tuesday's forum assembly in the Marriott Center.

"I say success is peace of mind which can be attained only through self-satisfaction in knowing that you have done the best to become the best person possible," Wooden said.

Wooden built his plan for success in a form of a pyramid, which he called "the pyramid of success." There are two cornerstones, industry and enthusiasm, which are unchangeable.

Good things don't come easy and they should not, Wooden said. Worthwhile things should be hard.

The first tier of the pyramid is made up of three things, which are very much alike, Wooden said. They are loyalty, friendship and cooperation. He added if all people had love for one another, "there would be no problems at all," as he tied the three attributes together. Self-control, intent, initiative and alertness fall on the second tier, which is followed by what Wooden calls "the heart of the pyramid." This is made up of conditioning, skill and team spirit.

Wooden said "practice of moderation in all things" is vital to proper physical condition. Rest and food must be moderate.

"If we are going to have physical condition," Wooden said, "we must have moral condition, and we can't have moral condition unless we're spiritually conditioned."

Elaborating on team spirit, Wooden says consideration for other people is vitally important. Courtesy and politeness "is a small price to pay" for the goodwill and affection of other people.

The final tier before the apex of the pyramid is comprised of poise and confidence, which leads to competitive greatness and the attainment of individual goals.

Pray for guidance, Wooden added, and give thanks for the attainment of individual goals. Magnify their blessings as much as they magnify their disappointments.

"The good Lord, in his infinite wisdom, did not create us all equal," Wooden said, "as far as mentality, physical appearance, environment and opportunity are concerned."

"But there are some respects where we are created equal," he added. "We all have the same opportunity to make the most of what we have under the conditions that exist for us and the opportunity to improve our situation as best we can."

People tend to compare themselves with others,

Wooden said, who appear to be in a more advantageous position, when "reality often finds they have less." These people have only material wealth. He urged the audience not to seek happiness and peace from material things because they can be taken away.

CHICAGO — Traffic fatalities dropped 25 per cent in March, and lower driving speeds were an important factor in the decline, the National Safety Council said Tuesday.

Revision sparks change in student government

By SYBEL ALGER
Universe Staff Writer

The constitutional revision which was voted down by the student body two weeks ago sparked a move for change in student government which will continue, according to its author Keith Haines.

"We've started the mechanics in motion," he said. "And we've planted a seed that will bloom."

Though nearly two-thirds of the 725 votes cast were opposed to the proposal, Haines felt it would have passed "by a long way" if the voting had been held earlier.

"We had 12,050 signatures on the petitions supporting the revision," he pointed out.

Statements by student government advisers also hurt the effort for revision, Haines said.

Reid Robison, ASBYU president, has appointed a committee to study improvement of student government in response to the revision drive.

"We'll give them until mid-October to present something valid," Haines stated. "Any improvement would be good, but it has to have actual representation."

If he finds the conclusions of the committee unacceptable, Haines plans to go again to the students.

"We won't necessarily propose the same revision," he said. "But this time student government won't have finals to save them."

Haines said he felt that he would be able to expand the drive for votes if the need arises.

"We'll be able to get ourselves going," he said. "We had 67 people this time and 40 or 50 more came later and offered to help."

He concluded, "Contrary to some of the statements which have been made, no system is the best; any structure can be improved."

"I think we've accomplished quite a lot. It all depends upon whether students think that student government represents them or is a joke."

Expo '74 ready to open

By STEVE WEINER
Associated Press Writer

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP) — Expo '74, the environmental world's fair dedicated to tomorrow's better world, was blanketed with activity Wednesday, preparing for opening ceremonies already tinged with controversy.

An estimated 1,200 persons, some of them working around the clock, were preparing for Saturday's dedication, which was to include participation by President and Mrs. Richard Nixon and Commerce Secretary Frederick Dent.

"We're putting the soul of Expo together—it feels good, it looks good," said Expo General Manager Peter Spumey. "It's still too early to put the stamp on it, but it's better at this point than we expected."

Opening for a 184-day run, the fair is being held in the smallest city—170,000 persons—ever sanctioned by the Bureau of International Expositions in Paris to sponsor such an event. Expo '74 is "Dedicated to Tomorrow's Fresh New Environment," and 10 foreign nations, four states, two Canadian provinces and 35 domestic exhibitors will tell their environmental story.

Investigation ends in Ogden robbery

OGDEN, Utah (AP) — Ogden police were winding up their investigation of last week's triple slayings and robbery of the Hi Fi record shop and said they expected no more arrests.

"There was one more person we were looking at," said Police Chief Leroy Jacobsen. But he said it was decided in a conference with the county attorney the fifth person would not be charged but probably would be used as a witness during a trial.

He did not identify the individual.

Three people were killed during the April 22 robbery and two others were injured, one critically, in an apparent attempt to silence witnesses, according to police. They have theorized the robbers planned only to burglarize the shop but were surprised to find employees still in the store.

Two Hill Air Force Base

airmen arrested on first-degree murder charges. Dale S. Pierre, 21, of Brooklyn, N.Y., and William A. Andrews, 19, of Dallas, Tex., are scheduled for another arraignment hearing Thursday.

Two other persons have been charged in connection with the case. Lawrence Martin Anderson, 23, of Ogden, has been charged with tampering with evidence and Keith Leon Roberts, 20, also an airman from Hill AFB, has been charged with carrying a concealed weapon and tampering with evidence. Police said those charges were related to a gun believed used in the shootings.

Jobs offered in Europe

Summer jobs are available in Europe for students between the ages of 18 and 27 according to the Student Overseas Services.

SOS, which has been helping college students in Europe for 16 years, announced the number of jobs available in Europe is higher than original estimates.

Those who have not previously worked or studied in Europe must undergo a brief orientation period at their own expense after arriving in Europe. The orientation is designed to help the students get a good start in their jobs.

The jobs are mostly in hotels, resorts and restaurants, but the work can be hard, SOS said. However, working there will pay room and board in addition to a standard wage.

Interested students may write SOS, Box 5173, Santa Barbara, Calif. 93108 for further information.

Outstanding Men and Women application deadline Monday

Monday is the deadline for applications for the 1974 edition of the annual awards volumes of Outstanding Young Men and Women of America.

The BYU Alumni Association will nominate twelve young men and twelve young women from the ranks of BYU alumni for this national recognition.

According to Virginia H. Riggs of the Alumni Association, 13 applications have been received so far. Applicants are Kenneth W. Anderson, Chairman, BYU-California Center, Gary Lee Browning, assistant professor of English; Diane

Other applicants include Karl Donald Jarvis, BYU associate professor of Russian; Ronald Brent Kinghorn, director, BYU-Ricks Center; Karen Lynn, BYU assistant professor of English; Thomas Edgar Lyon, BYU assistant professor of Spanish; Thomas William Mackay, BYU assistant professor of Greek and Latin; Chris Orlerton, BYU dance instructor; and Steven Charles Walker, BYU assistant professor of English.

Mrs. Riggs said a committee made up of the Alumni Association and headed by Ronald G. Hyde will determine which applications will be forwarded to the national publishers.

The Outstanding Young Men and Women of America publications honor on a national level men and women between the ages of 21 and 35 who have distinguished themselves in civic and professional activities. The young men and women whose biographies appear in these awards volumes are nominated by university alumni associations, Jaycees and leading men's and women's organizations.

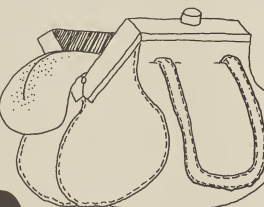

The Alumni Association invites members of the faculty and staff to submit names of nominees. Nominations should be based on contributions to professions, service to community and any civic and professional recognition previously earned.

Application forms are available at the Alumni House or from the head of each college.

Secured Gallery display

San Diego art shown

By TIM JACKSON
Universe Staff Writer

Watercolors by a prominent San Diego painter are on display for the public in the Secured Gallery of the HFAC. Artist Robert Perine, nationally known watercolor artist and commercial art director in San Diego, will have a sample of his work on display until May 19.

"We were impressed by his unique style and are proud to have it on display," says Peter Myer, director of the Secured Gallery. "I am doing something that hasn't really been explored much in watercolor painting. This design influence is what caused me to become interested in more thoughtful and studied relationships of forms," Perine said of his work. "The structural part of my painting is what I call the 'edge, geometric part'."

Perine has received numerous awards for his work from such competitions as the San Diego Art Institute.

Courses on Asia offered

Students at BYU are given the opportunity to enroll in Asian Studies programs and courses which are not available in any of the surrounding states of Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado, Arizona or in Utah itself.

There are 63 courses offered to students in the Asian Studies program and many of the courses fill general education requirements according to Dr. Spencer Palmer, coordinator for Asian Studies.

Language requirements can be filled in the field of Chinese and Japanese during spring term with other courses offered in Classical Civilization filling humanities requirements. Political science courses covering international politics, the political system in China filling social science requirements are also offered, he noted.

The director for Academic Affairs of the Utah Coordinating Council on Higher Education, Leon R. McCarney in a letter to Dr. Palmer noted that "Brigham Young University exercises a preeminent position of leadership in Asian Studies (with emphasis on China, Korea and Japan) in the State of Utah and throughout the states of the Rocky Mountain Region."

McCarney also pointed out that BYU has a strong oriental language program and is the only university in the region which has a graduate program in Asian Studies.

Dr. Palmer has served as a U.S. Army chaplain in Korea and later as president of the Korean mission.

Faculty members in the Asian Studies program include not only native-born Americans but Chinese and Japanese scholars.

Annual, the California National Watercolor Society Show, The La Mirada Fiesta Des Artes Open, and a Purchase Award of the Butler Institute of American Art in Ohio.

Perine's display contains 20 paintings ranging in price from $2,500 to $275. "Purchases cannot be made here," Myer said, "but we have Perine's address for interested buyers. We will probably purchase a painting for the BYU art collection. We try and make regular purchases of good live artists' work as well as purchases from galleries."

Perine is presently working as art director at Frye and Smith Ltd. in San Diego. He received his education at Pasadena City College, the University of Southern California and the Chouinard Art Institute, with some teaching background at the University of Alabama and the Chouinard Art Institute.

Timpanogos Cave guided tours begin

Guided tours of Timpanogos Cave have resumed and will be conducted on a daily basis for the remainder of the summer season.

Cave Administrative Officer Tom Speer said guided tours through the caves will be conducted daily between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. The Visitor Center, which offers museum exhibits, information and a color slide program of the area, will remain open until 6 p.m.

According to Superintendent Don H. Castleberry, the size of the caves and the need to protect the delicate formations has forced the National Park Service to limit each tour to 20 persons. As a result, the number of visitors who can be guided through the caves in any one day is limited, and on some days not all of the visitors who wish to tour the caves will be accommodated.

The three mile round-trip through the caves normally requires three hours and a guide fee of 50 cents is charged. Cave guides reminded visitors to bring a jacket or for the cave tour, where temperatures average 43 degrees. For safety reasons, children under the age of 16 are not permitted on the cave trail without adult supervision.

Rising grades studied; conclusion not drawn yet

There are no results yet from the research being done on steadily rising grade averages at BYU, according to H. Bruce Higley of BYU Institutional Research.

Concern over the grading system began last semester when BYU Institutional Research found that 75 per cent of all grades given for the fall semester were A's or B's.

According to Higley, there have been problems with BYU students being admitted to graduate schools since many graduate schools are wary of colleges that consistently give exceptionally high grades.

To get a better idea of the national range of grades being given, BYU Institutional Research has sent questionnaires to colleges all over the United States, said Higley.

Higley said some of the questionnaires had been filled out and returned by some of the colleges, but BYU Institutional Research has not yet tallied the results.

Anti-smallpox campaign may eradicate disease

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — The head of the World Health Organization predicted Tuesday that smallpox, mankind's most dreaded killer disease, will be eradicated next year.

Director General Halldan Mahler thus confirmed optimistic progress reports from a worldwide campaign launched in 1967 against the disease that has killed more people in the past 3,000 years than all wars, according to health historians.

Health workers and a simple needle that costs less than a penny are credited with achieving what Dr. Mahler called the "first miracle of public health."

Though conceding "certain tasks have still to be accomplished" in several countries, including Bangladesh, Pakistan and Ethiopia, he said he is confident that 1975 will see the "last new case of smallpox in the world."

Mahler also said his confidence was not shaken by epidemics in India, Pakistan and Bangladesh. The world total of new cases soared from 65,000 in 1972 to 130,000 in 1973. When the campaign started seven years ago, the total had been two and one-half million.

The campaign against smallpox is only one of dozens of drives sponsored by the World Health Organization against communicable diseases, including malaria and polio.

When the smallpox campaign started, the disease was considered endemic in about 30 countries. Smallpox mortality was highest in Asia, up to about 30 per cent; and it was out of control on the Indian subcontinent and in Indonesia.

The biggest break-through came in 1968 with the introduction of the bifurcated needle, which is dipped into the vaccine and used to prick the skin about 15 times.

Trained vaccinators can vaccinate up to 1,500 persons a day.

The needle has been used on millions of people and has been described by health

'Learn, uphold the law,' First Presidency urges

Mormons throughout the world have a responsibility to government which as law-abiding citizens they should not shirk, the First Presidency of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints said Wednesday in a declaration coinciding with Law Day observances.

In a statement signed by President Spencer W. Kimball and his counselors, President N. Eldon Tanner and President Marion G. Romney, the First Presidency said:

"May 1 has been designated as Law Day. We are pleased to encourage members of the Church around the world to learn more that governs them, to honor that law, and to participate as citizens in the processes which make better laws and change bad laws."

"We believe in being subject to kings, presidents, rulers and magistrates, in obeying, honoring and sustaining the law."

"We believe that the strength of any nation begins in the home, we urge parents to teach their children respect for the law of the land. As our scripture declares:

"We believe that governments were instituted of God for the benefit of man; and that he holds men accountable for their acts in relation to them, both in making laws and administering them, for the good and safety of society," (Doctrine and Covenants 134:1)

"As citizens we have a responsibility to government from which we should not shrink."

"We earnestly urge every citizen to exercise his or her franchise under the law to not only vote but work toward better law making and law observing."

"Latter-day Saints should do even more than uphold the law. They should ever remember another Article of Faith which begins: 'We believe in being honest, true, chaste, benevolent, virtuous, and in doing good to all men;...'

Centennial history of BYU available

Copies of a three-volume centennial history of BYU are being offered to all full-time faculty and staff employees for $10, according to Pres. Dallin H. Oaks.

This history is now being prepared by former BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson and will be published sometime in 1975, Dr. Oaks said in a letter to university employees. The completion of the history will be the culmination of "three years of careful research into over 3,000 original documents, manuscripts, diaries, contemporaneous historical works and other records," Dr. Oaks said.

Each full-time employee is being offered one copy of the history, which would normally sell for $60 retail, according to Oaks. Through heavy subsidization by a friend of the university, the special publication offer is available, Dr. Oaks noted.

He said the entire printing of the history will be committed in advance to fill orders, but the volumes will not be printed for sale to the public.

Anyone desiring the history must, therefore, order it under the prepublication offer. Any employee desiring a copy of the centennial history should write his name, department and campus address and send it with an order form and a $10 check or written authorization for a $10 deduction from his 1974 payroll check in September. The offer is available until June 1.

"During the first 99 years of this institution, no less than six different committees were appointed to write a history of BYU," said Dr. Oaks, "but little or nothing came of their efforts because the assignment was altogether too large for committee members burdened with other responsibilities."

Local cleanup project planned

A community cleanup project is being sponsored Saturday at 9:30 a.m. by the ASBYU Student Community Service Office, according to Robert Hall, Student Community Service vice president.

Transportation and lunch will be furnished and anyone interested in helping with the project should be in the ELWC parking lot Saturday morning, said Hall.

Participants should sign up in the Student Community Service office or in the ELWC Step-down Lounge during the week, he continued.

He added that "any person wishing to work in the office of Student Community Service is invited to come to 422 ELWC and get involved."

WAC finals

Y hosts gals' net meet

By JUHANI NUMMELA
Universe Staff Writer

BYU will host the Women's WAC tennis championships, starting this morning at 9 a.m. and continuing through Saturday when the finals will take place at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

There will be 11 teams participating in the annual tournament. Teams in the WAC include BYU, ASU, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico. In addition to these teams, Western State College, Colorado University, University of Northern Colorado, New Mexico State, Utah State, Colorado College and Colorado Women's College will send teams to the meet, according to BYU Coach Ann Valentine.

BYU has a very strong team this year. It has won all of its matches except that against ASU, running its record to 6-1 during the regular season.

In this WAC tournament, ASU is considered a favorite, but should get stiff competition from BYU and University of Utah. Utah has an excellent No. 1 player, Jane Stratton, and she is favored to take the individual crown in singles.

Individually on the BYU team, No. 1 player Kerry Young has won all matches except the ASU match, which she lost in three sets.

Marilyn Koski, the No. 2 singles player, has also been undefeated during the season until the ASU match.

Marilee Hudgens, also lost only once during the season.

Janis Trane, who normally plays No. 4, will not be playing this tournament and will be replaced by Pam Turley, the No. 5 player. Jan Werner, the No. 6 player, will move up to the No. 5 position, and Linda Roberts will play the No. 6 position.

Koski, playing the No. 1 doubles position, have been exceptionally strong this season, as have been Miss Young and Miss Turley, according to Coach Valentine.

Laie ruggers snap back to boot Cats in 12-9 duel

The BYU rugby team, returning to action after a week of inactivity, faced a powerful opponent in the Laie Community College team. This team is the current champion of the Hawaiian Rugby Union, and they edged BYU, 12-9.

The LCC team is at present on tour in California and Utah. Their conditioning paid off for them, as they scored 12 unanswered points in the last 20 minutes of the 80-minute match.

BYU's defense was excellent for 60 minutes while the offense put 9 points on the scoreboard on two penalty kicks by John Hubbard and a drop-kick by Inoke Funaki.

LCC penetrated many times, but BYU held them off in a number of goal-line stands, with line-out dominance and evenly matched scrums.

A large crowd was on hand to cheer enthusiastically as both teams mounted offensive plays and spun the ball quickly, only to be stopped short by great defense.

Two Y ruggers and player from Laie Community College scramble for ball.

The temperature and rock-hard field took their toll and the Hawaiians, relishing the heat, broke BYU's defense to win on the last play of the game.

NBA at 1-1, N.Y. leads in ABA

Stars bow to Nets in overtime period

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Larry Kenon sat on the New York Nets bench for about eight agonizing minutes and watched his team fritter away a three-point lead and fall behind by six points. He noticed that the Utah Stars were taking advantage of the Nets under the boards, grabbing rebounds and scoring on easy shots, and he vowed that when he reentered the game he would correct the situation. He did.

The lanky, soft-spoken rookie from Memphis State came back in with about 8-30 remaining and New York trailing 75-69 in the opening game of their American Basketball Association championship series Tuesday night. He quickly asserted himself, pulling down a rebound and dropping in a layup, then hauled in three rebounds in the closing four minutes and hit New York's last three field goals, carrying the Nets to a tense 89-85 victory. His cool performance down the stretch, a rarity for a rookie in such a critical game, virtually overshadowed the brilliant 47-point binge of his teammate, Julius Erving.

Kenon finished as the only other New York player in double figures, scoring 18 points. He also was the game's leading rebounder with 20, including nine off the offensive boards, more than the rest of the New York team.

The game was a first for the Nets since April 20 when they completed a four-game sweep over the Kentucky Colonels in the Eastern Division final series. Except for Erving, who fired 19 of 29 including 13 in a row, and Kenon, who hit nine of 15, the Nets shooting was abysmal.

Utah's was, too. The Stars' only consistent marksman was Jimmy Jones, who hit his last eight shots and nine of 11 over-all and finished with 25 points. Erving, the league's most valuable player and the ABA's scoring champion for the second year in a row, was firing devastating in the first three periods, scoring 12, 14, and 15 points respectively. His final total of 47 points was three short of the Nets playoff record and only six shy of the league mark of 53. He shares the ABA record with Roger Brown of Indiana, but he accomplished the feat while with Virginia in 1972.

The Stars, who already were without starting center Zelmo Beatty because of a groin infection, received another jolt when his replacement, Gerald Govan, suffered a sprained ankle and possible pinched ligament nerve in his left knee late in the game. His condition and availability for Saturday's second game of the series was expected to be determined today.

Bucks capture win over Boston team

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Boston Celtics' pressure defense was all but impregnable for almost 52 minutes Tuesday night, but when a crack finally appeared, Cornell Warner was ready. Warner drove the lane for a pair of dunk shots, adding a free throw after the first one, in the last 34 seconds of overtime. His second basket gave the Milwaukee Bucks a 103-96 lead en route to a 105-96 victory, squaring their National Basketball Association championship playoff series at 1-1.

The Celtics battled from a 16-point deficit early in the third quarter to tie at 90-90 on two free throws by John Havlicek with 58 seconds left in regulation, the final points until the five-minute extra period.

The Bucks had two more chances to win in regulation and thus take back to Boston a 2-0 lead in the best of seven series. However, Milwaukee's 7-foot-2 Kareem Abdul-Jabbar blocked a shot by Dave Cowens with 10 seconds left, and a jump shot by Havlicek rolled off the rim as regulation time expired.

The next two games will be in Boston, starting with game three Friday night.

The Bucks, leading 98-96, called time with 39 seconds left in overtime. Oscar Robertson passed inbound to Warner near midcourt when play resumed. Warner wheeled past Paul Silas, drove the lane and stuffed in the game's biggest basket. Cowens, who scored 17 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, fouled out on the play and Warner converted the free throw.

"It was the biggest dunk of the year. Baby, what a play,"

Bucks' Coach Larry Costello shouted. "It was a beautiful move, a move a player should react to instinctively," Costello said. "He's supposed to forget the play we called when that happens and take the basket. He had the basket."

Bruins win game by narrow margin

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

And then there were three. The Boston Bruins, behind a tie-breaking, third-period goal by young Gregg Sheppard in the final two minutes, defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 Tuesday night, won their Stanley Cup semifinal series four games to two and advanced to the National Hockey League championship.

Meanwhile, the Philadelphia Flyers moved a giant step closer to filling the other berth in the championship set by beating the New York Rangers 4-1 and taking a 3-2 lead in their semifinal.

Bruins Coach Ben Guadolin says he has no preference who makes the finals against Boston. "I don't care who we go up against," said Guadolin. "Whoever you are going to meet is going to be good." Sheppard broke a 2-2 tie with just 1:49 left in the game with his ninth playoff goal, taking a pass from Dallas Smith and beating Hawks goalie Tony Esposito, up with an empty net tally 33 seconds later.

The Rangers dominated the first period and the start of the second, but then Philadelphia took charge. Flyers Coach Fred Shero said Terry Crisp, the Flyers' hustling center, was scrambling on the bench during the second period about going all out.

Shero sent Crisp into the game, and the Flyers dominated the remainder of the action with their finest display of skating since the opening game of the series.

New York Coach Emile Francis said his team let the game slip away when it had a chance to break it open in the first period.

Pete Stelmowski scored the only goal of the first period at 6:16 to give New York a 1-0 lead. Bladen tied it at 6:39 of the middle period, then MacLeish put Philadelphia ahead with a long shot past goalie Ed Giacomin, with Gary Dornhoefer effectively screening Giacomin.

The Flyers' Dave Schultz broke a record in the first period when he amassed 17 penalty minutes to boost his total for nine playoff games to 96. The old NHL mark was 80 minutes served by John Ferguson of Montreal in 1969 during 14 games against New York, Boston and St. Louis.

Wilkinson Center anniversary will be commemorated May 24

by BARBARA PHILLIPS
Universe Staff Writer

The Wilkinson Center will celebrate its 10th anniversary with a cake-cutting ceremony performed by former BYU president Ernest L. Wilkinson on May 24.

According to Lyle Curtis, associate dean of student life, the event will be informal with a possibility of tours through the building and continuous talent being performed.

The idea of a student activities center at BYU was conceived many years ago. In 1950 servicemen, alumni, missionaries, faculty, staff and students had contributed over $80,000 toward a union building. However, that year it was decided by President Smith to use this money for the construction of the Smith Fieldhouse.

A student building fund was assessed all students. This money eventually went toward the construction of the center. By January 1958 approximately $1,755,000 had been collected. Seventy-five per cent of the cost came from the students and 25 per cent from the Church. The building, including the bookstore and food serving equipment cost $6,704,540.

The work on the building which began June 16, 1961, was completed April 7, 1964, and opened the following May. It was dedicated by President Joseph Fielding Smith the following year on April 3, 1965 when it was officially named the Ernest L. Wilkinson Center.

The center is 304,600 square feet of floor space on six levels. At the time of completion it was one of the largest buildings in Utah and ranked among the top five unions in the United States in size.

By an actual count 35,000 people make use of the center on a school day during the regular school year. The demand for the use of the center facilities has prompted planning for expansion and remodeling the building. Included in the center is the skyroom on the sixth floor, which seats 250 for a banquet. The fifth floor is used for student publications, and the fourth floor for student government.

The third and second floors have meeting rooms. The second floor also includes a cafeteria, snack bar, kitchens, bakery, music rooms, a theater and the bookstore.

The lower floor contains a post office, games area, hobby center, practice rooms, credit union and barbershop.

Curtis said the philosophy of the BYU student activities "is designed to provide opportunity for development of human potential through individual growth. Student government committees plan programs, share experiences and attempt to understand group and interpersonal relationships."

"In all of these experiences self-directed activity is encouraged, giving opportunity for self-realization and growth in the individual's social as well as intellectual competency. Combining this with the purpose of the restored gospel of Jesus Christ, the goal is personal development of the student which enable him to know who he is and what he wants to become and to build his life on the principles of the gospel of Jesus Christ."

Financial allotment announced

A budget of $20,000 has been allotted for ASBYU activities during spring and summer terms, according to Frank Wirig, new ASBYU vice president of finance.

The money will all be in one account to be proportioned out to the other vice presidents, he explained.

Wirig called his office the "uncreative office," because it is strictly administrative and does not sponsor any programs. However, he explained, it is the "most vital organization because all the other offices have to go through us for their funds."

Wirig, who worked in the U.S. Steel accounting office last summer, added that the basic structure of his office will remain the same as it was in the fall and winter semesters.

The allotted budget is about the same as the previous summer, Wirig noted, adding that the sum will be proportioned out to the various offices as needs arise.

Senior Hearst not optimistic about Patti's release by SLA

OAKLAND* Calif. (AP) — Randolph A. Hearst has said he is not optimistic his daughter will be released by the Symbionese Liberation Army despite a request by an imprisoned SLA founder that she be freed.

Hearst said he believes the SLA has exercised some form of "mind control" on his daughter, Patti.

"Naturally, I hope she's released safely, but they've stated they aren't going to release her and she's stated that she's not going to leave, so at the moment, I'm not very optimistic of the fact that they will turn her loose," Hearst said in a San Francisco Chronicle story.

The story also disclosed that a Brazilian manual on political kidnapping was found in an Oakland apartment thought to have been a hideout of the Symbionese Liberation Army after Patricia Hearst was abducted.

The Chronicle said in its story on Wednesday's editions that Oakland police found the document, the "Manual of the Urban Guerrilla," Feb. 18. Miss Hearst was kidnapped Feb. 4.

The paper said police did not disclose the discovery in hopes that SLA members might return to the abandoned Victorian-style structure, a block away from city hall. That plan was discarded when Atty. Gen. William B.

Saxe announced a federal authorities possession of a kidnapping manual. "This Hearst conducted right by

Actress Agnes Moorehead dies at 67, cause not given

ROCHESTER, Minn. (AP) — Agnes Moorehead, an outstanding and highly versatile character actress of stage and screen for half a century, died Tuesday at the age of 67. Cause of her death was not revealed.

The red-haired Miss Moorehead, who perhaps was best known in recent years for her role as Endora in the TV series "Bewitched," made her movie debut with Orson Welles in "Citizen Kane," in 1941. She won the New York Film Critics award for best actress of the year in 1942 for "The Magnificent Ambersons."

Miss Moorehead five times was nominated for an Oscar—in "The Magnificent Ambersons," "Mrs. Parkington," "Johnny Belinda," "All That Heaven Allows," and "Hush, Hush, Sweet Charlotte."

The actress had been a patient at the Mayo Clinic here periodically over the past two years. She died in Methodist Hospital, an affiliate of the clinic.

A hospital spokesman said that when admitted she had asked that no information be released about her.

Miss Moorehead was born Dec. 6, 1906, in Clinton, Mass. She appeared in a succession of Broadway hits in the 1920s, among them "All the King's Horses," "Marco's Millions," "Soldiers and Women," and "Candlelight," the latter with Gertrude Lawrence.

The Depression hit Broadway hard and Miss Moorehead drifted into radio. She appeared on the "March of Time," "Cavalcade of America," "Sorry, Wrong Number," and "Mayor of the Town."

Miss Moorehead also was the heroine of a daytime radio soap opera, "Joyce Jordan, Girl Intern."

Coming to Welles' attention, she acted in "Citizen Kane," and he recalled her in 1942 for the role in "The Magnificent Ambersons."

In 1930, Miss Moorehead married actor John Griffith Lee, by whom she had a son, Sean. They were divorced and she married actor Robert Gist in 1954, a marriage that also ended in divorce four years later.
